For instance: paper money (banknotes), classic paper shares (company ownership), bills and notes (bills of debt) notary offices... and super modern technologies of block-chains, tokens and crypto-currency. And precisely this niche appearing as a result of disruption between flying away far forward to the spaces of virtual neuro and crypto Foresights, and remaining practically immovable half-ton bancomats and brick mansions - bank divisions – we would like to take them having our Arm-Money concept (free-hand money)

The Arm-Money operators are common people, but equipped with a packet of legal documents and dedicated software, they are capable to replace by themselves a full service of banking and crypto currency exchange simultaneously.

Any assets you own not only can be reliably concealed by us from external eyes, but can be preserved au naturel. Using the Arm-Money (free-hand money) cash money remains cash, crypto-currency will remain crypto-currency, works of art and antiques will be the antique. It is important to note that requiring no special documents and depositing from you, actually without opening an account and other bureaucracy, we afford you a possibility to control your assets and means remotely. Utilizing habitual Internet, directly from your smartphone, you will transfer, receive, hand out, and credit the means insomuch as if they are in the up-to-date bank.
